Dear Sir,-We had a notice served o Saturday on the Richmond and Alleghany Railcoad Company and the Richmond, Alleghany and Ohio Central Railroad Company of our purpose to move for an in-junction on Wednesday, August 24th, to estrain consolidation with the Atlantic and Northwestern and the Ohio Central rail-roads, and to restrain the issue of stock and bonds under the plan of the proposed loan of the Syndicate Committee.

We have no desire to embarrass you the Richmoud and Alleghany, or the Richmond and Alleguany and Obio Central, or the Syndicate Committee, in any purpose plan, or scheme, except in so far as may be necessary to save us from loss upon the shares of stock held by us. Nor do we de-sire to stir up any other opposition, and therefore we endeavored to proceed as quietly as possible so as to give you a fair chance to settle with us and get us out of the Combined Sunday School Pio-Nic .- The Sunday schools connected with every church in Mauchester and Chesterfield will meet to-day at the court-house and indulge in a grand combined pie-sie. Last year on a milar occasion there were present over 1,200 children and several hundred adults. Then the children seemed not to know anyrailroad company to the parties hereto of thing of denominational differences, but the first and second parts at twenty dollars chiefly went in for solid enjoyment in the way of edibles, and listening to the moral discourses of their elders. A similar grand time is expected to-day. Preparations have een made on a large scale.

'Squire J. R. Perdue, an active Sundayschool worker, and one of Manchester's landmarks, says he attended the first Sunday school ever opened in Chesterfield, at Rockspring meeting-bouse, some twenty miles from this city, over sixty-five years ago. The paster of Reckspring meeting-house was Rev. Mr. Tompkins-"a little but The meeting-house in which loud man.' he held forth has been moved twice since Tompkins's time. At Rockspring the faous Lorenzo Dow, who was accompanied by his wife, Pergy Dow, used to warn sinners of the wrath to come.
